

Star Teachings Protocol

The book cover features a central rectangular panel with a dark, embossed background of intricate, swirling patterns. The title is rendered in large, gold, serif capital letters. The number '12' is particularly large and prominent. The text is surrounded by four gold-colored human bones (femurs) arranged in a cross pattern, and a gold-colored human skull is positioned at the bottom center. The entire design is framed by a dark, textured border.

THE 12 UNIVERSAL DARK LAWS

01. The Law of Deceit

States that:

There are 2 ways to fool anyone, to make them believe a lie is a truth, or make them believe a truth is a lie. This is correct, also it is easier to fool people, than it is to convince them that they have been fooled.

A lie can dress up as a truth and condemn the truth as a liar. Many use this tactic and cloak themselves in virtue to achieve an untouchable status. Lies are used as part of the dark arts. When you can fool a population or individuals into believing a false reality based on scripted lies, you can then establish a group of individuals that believe the false reality and one's lies to the extent that they will carry out atrocities in the defence of those lies, to their death. As it is believed to be an assault on their beliefs, which have been artificially generated, to convince the minds that their false perception of reality is the truth. You can convince them of a virus that doesn't exist for example and get them to worry and take a test first that gives them a false positive. Which then convinces them they have the virus, so they get the jab.

The scale of Lie

Everyone tells little lies. There is a scale of lies, some lies are petty and inconsequential, some lies are so massive that the scale of them defies thinking that a lie could be so big, or established as a popular truth, because it would require such vast resources to maintain it and such a huge amount of collusion that it would be impossible. To people who think like that, I say "Santa Claus" is also a great collusion and conspiracy too. Created and marketed by the Coca-Cola Co.

There will also always be people who jump on the lie or latest bandwagon and adopt it as their truth immediately. They will believe the lie without questioning it, because the false authorities that they believe in, and give their powers to, will be maintaining the false reality perception management. They are a ready made group of cheerleaders for the "lie narrative deployment" to convince others.

02. The Law of Illusion & Mind Control

States that:

Once you own a person's beliefs and perceptions you own their mind, you own their whole entire body. You can control who they think they are, their thoughts and actions.

All perception is subjective, and if you can convince the subject of a false reality, then they conform and behave according to that constructed reality's rules.

Invisible Bars Made of Thoughts

Things aren't necessarily what they are, but they are what they are perceived to be.

If you can control people's perception, you control their entire reality. The best form of mental slavery is one that does not see that they are in a prison, and so thinks they are free to think and choose. Not aware that their perception of reality itself has been influenced and hacked, and not aware that this then influences their choices which they believe they are making freely.

Creating the monsters

Egos or a person's consciousness can be shattered then compartmentalised, and each compartment trained with a different personality, avatar, or purpose. This is done by traumatising the individual's consciousness so much so that an out of body or a dissociative mental to physical state is created. As the individual tries to escape their physical traumatic experiences, they will disconnect from their physical bodies, and their consciousness seeks refuge from trauma out of its vessel or body.

Ego & Masks

We create an identity as we grow up, this is based on our influences, the things or traits in others we like and adopt in our own unique flavour. Psychology & Perception Management, Belief Management is used in Schools, especially in Universities and Academia, but also Government propaganda, social engineering trends and fashions, creating dividing narratives. Sports, Politics, Religion and Science are all being used to distract or occupy minds and control behaviours and reactions.

Trance state, hypnotism & mesmerism, technology, coercion and manipulation are being used through the media and social channels, all of which adds to the multiple ways Mind control is applied to you to control you.

Once the seed is planted, and you've believed it's true, then you are its victim or its benefactor. This is how magic works, spells work, from voodoo to politics, and the media. They all use this technique to get you to trust them etc.

03. The Law of Revealing the Method

States that:

If you tell them and they accept it, without rejecting it, then it's not your problem, it is theirs, for not rejecting it at the time they were told or presented or made aware.

These are "Tacit agreements", meaning if you don't respond then your silence is compliance.

No Informed Consent

If you buy a health product and find out later it was harmful, and you were not informed, then you have the right to complain or seek redress because you were deceived and bought the item under false pretences.

Informed Consent

If you buy a health product that informs you of the side effects, including the ones that are harmful to you, but you still bought that product, and then after using it, got harmed, you would have no right to complain because you bought the product that at the time of purchase has informed you of potential harm. Therefore, in some minds, the karma, or fault or consequence, is entirely your own, because you were warned at the time. So this is how

"Revelation of The Method" works. It goes along the principle that if you were informed at the time, or before even, but you still decided to buy or use that item, or accept that information as truth, then the blame or consequences are on you, for falling for it. Of course, they say it in small print, or make the t&c's long and tricky to interpret with legal jargon etc, which is all part of the many methods they use to offload their crimes on to others who are naïve or not diligent.

04. The Law of Division & Chaos

States that:

United you stand, Divided you fall. Divide and conquer. If you can divide a population on beliefs, then you can make them fight each other while others reap the benefit from the distracted fighting groups. If you can control both sides, you can justify wars for profits and people as expendable.

If you can own both sides, or all of the sides that are seemingly divided, you can play them up against each other. You can pull in people who would seek to do you harm, and deal with them before they act. As they believed in the ideology of that group you created that was pretending to be your opposition.

Self Identifying Tribes

There are many different social action, protest, environmental, political, ideological, spiritual and religious groups. There are groups based on your gender or non gender or who you prefer to sleep with. There are political party groups, opposition groups, cultural and radical groups. Groups for knitting, groups for animal liberation, women's rights, men's rights etc, etc.

Most of these groups, that have a political or radical ideological position, are generally government created or created as a response to government suppression or censorship. These tribes are a way to get people to identify themselves to the authorities running the opposition groups. It is also a way to divide your mind so that you see others who don't think like you or your tribe's ideology or dogma, that they are then the enemy. This way you have attached yourself to a movement or cause, but may not be fully aware how you are still being manipulated.

Resulting in the destruction of the family unit, and isolating the youth from the wisdom of their elder generations life experiences.

05. The Law of Self Limitation (Self Division)

States that:

Through repetition and multi-spectrum frequency, one can program the mind to turn in on itself. and through the use of music, news, mainstream media, advertising and music, self destruct. Self loathing and self destruction creates depression, which prevents personal expression, creativity and prevents self empowerment.

Self Limiting Thought Scripts

The way that you think and speak about yourself will then match the resonant frequency and then manifest that reality to you and others.

Self Perception

Some people take on the perceptions of themselves placed there by others, and sometimes this can be a negative self perception. Some people do not accept anyone else's version of themselves and instead define who they are and what they stand for. Then there is the spectrum between where some people will have strong self knowing of a specific topic or topics, feel strongly about them, and other topics they know about less, they will not.

All of which is dictated and generated by one's own thoughts. So the quality of the language you use in your thoughts about yourself make a difference as to whether you manifest adversity or abundance and opportunity for yourself.

06. The Law of Traps & Pacts

States that:

Contracts and paper bondage. Mental traps and obligations. Loyalty and service.

When two or more people come together to make a mutually beneficial arrangement, then this is called an agreement, or a contract. Some of these are verbal contracts, some are written, and some are photographic or on recorded data files. Some agreements that are made, are not made public, and this is known as a hidden agreement, called a "Pact". Usually done against others who are not aware, so as to gain benefit by deceit as something else.

Sometimes we are not always aware of pacts and agreements because we think it is a different arrangement, and so are not always aware of what arrangements we are part of and feeding unawares.

This is also known as "Conspiring" or if a group does it, it is called a "Conspiracy", people plotting to achieve a set goal or goals, unbeknownst to the public who are being manipulated as part of the hidden agreement or agreements.

For example, the popular seasonal character we all know and love who is called "Father Christmas" or "Santa", is a type of conspiracy against young children and has no relation to Jesus Christ except in allegory that he is based on a Saint called Nicholas. These are known as Mind Traps or Psychological Operations.

07. The Law of Spells

States that:

Nothing is good or bad, unless it is thought to be so. Abracadabra means I create as I speak. "Avracadavra" means I destroy what I speak. Your words can kill or create.

Spells are Words, Language, Double-Speak, Legalese and Joinder, gossip, Hegelian Didactic and much more. They convey frequencies of energy like a carrier wave out from the individual's mouth. Not only this, the written language of English is also a language of spells.

Spells are a way of getting people to do things that they would not do normally, or to use language to scare, distract, divert or conceal other meanings and consequences.

For example, do you "understand" is to stand under someone or some other authority, with spells. So to "under" "stand" is not necessarily the true way of being able to "comprehend" what is really going on. A "Contract" is a "Con" "tract" a route to fool or fleece or deceive you.

Spells are also lyrics in songs, sentence structures that the listener will repeat in their mind that programs their thoughts about a specific issue. The opposite gender, love, betrayal, respect, glamour, gangs, money, influence, revenge, death etc. As repetitive themes to use to sculpt the way a person thinks by what they think, and how they think of it. Using the scripted sentences in songs and music with the repetitive music beats, tones and frequencies. To induce some specific emotions, moods or feelings in the listener.

Language is weaponised, so the smaller your vocabulary is, will mean the smaller your mind and its awareness will be. Having a limited vocabulary equals having a limited awareness and perception.

08. The Law of Inversion

States that:

Authority is used as the Gate Keeper, and not for public assistance or as a care giver.

Laws are used against the people and used to benefit the law makers. The law needs the ignorant consent of the free to operate against them.

What is up, is down. What is right, is wrong, what is good, is bad, what is love, is fear etc, the race to the bottom of depravity when they have reached the race to the top of success.

A corrupt mind will twist the truth and invert it, so a Saint is painted as a Sinner and a Sinner promoted as a Saint.

Virtue is worn like a cloak to deceive, so people who position themselves in roles of virtue can often use that surface appearance as a cloak of invisibility, or as a shield of public opinion, used to hide their criminal and evil behaviours. Royals, religious leaders, politicians and celebrities like to use this method of inversion. Their roles in public are seen to be the opposite, godly, charitable, kind, etc, so to accuse them of a terrible crime would make the accuser look like the attacker.

To justify a hidden agenda, a "Trojan Horse" is used as a cover story and promoted as having certain benefits, this is used to fool people's minds into believing in the cover story and becoming compliant with the false narrative (good intentions used for evil agendas).

Just as much as a false enemy can be created and sold to the population, so can other fear inducing narratives to persuade and influence them. Creating a fake virus with fake serious emergency responses to the fake virus to gain control under a false premise (promote a fake fear, to provide a false safety).

09. The Law of Belief

States that:

Nothing is what it is. It is what people believe it to be that makes something what it is.

You are born into the illusion and then believe it to be reality. Thus you will not see the true nature of reality, nor the reality to the nature of your illusion.

Once you have captured someone's trust they will believe you to be an authority, you can tell them anything you like and they will trust that is real and true. Without ever questioning the source of the info and why they are being told it. This is how a mind is captured, this is how a consciousness is enslaved within a false light.

Belief has the word "lie" within it, it is the not knowing of something to want it to be able to wish it to be real. Curiosity, experience and doing research provide learnings, understandings and knowing of answer to things yet known. So having a belief is to have a doubt and to keep it without new discovery to the believer. Which could change their belief.

You don't believe you have parents, you KNOW you have them.

A person could be trying to help but is believed to be doing harm, and also the opposite. Beliefs can be, and are manipulated. To have beliefs is not a bad thing, but to have false beliefs is harmful to you and others. Many wars and revolutions have been used with manipulated beliefs against a false cause or danger. The manipulation of beliefs is used by the mainstream media to control public opinions by controlling their reactions and to justify certain actions.

10. The Law of Association

States that:

If you keep your friends close but your enemies closer, you can know their plans. To plant a spy in the enemy's camp and pretend to be one of them. To get to understand their moves before they do it, then be in a position to disrupt or to stop their evil plans.

So beware of your associates, as the closest ones can perhaps be working for others. Know who you can work with and only trust in peoples actions and not their words, trust yourself to be discerning.

Criminals think criminally.

Careful what company you keep, you may be associated with others who have a reputation that follows them. You can be tarred with the same flavour as the people you associate with, even if you are not the same as them at all.

Smearing a person's reputation by bringing up their links and associations with other people who may have committed a crime can then make others assume you are the same or similar. Public opinion can be shaped by manipulating someone's associations.

Often by looking at the persons previous environments, associates, or business links and friendships, you can see what type of person they are by the people they associate and hang out with. This can give you an idea of a persons real motivations and true character.

11. The Law of Secrecy & Omission

States that:

You never reveal your secrets and play your part until you die.
Or you will get "unalived."

When you have a group of criminals, it is a loose contract between them because everyone is a criminal and so none of the criminals are able to trust anyone.

What then tends to happen as these criminals need some sort of guarantee that their own crimes will be kept secret with the other criminals, So then a game of getting each other to do a more and more serious crime as a way to gain increasing trust between criminals.

So that each time a crime is committed the criminals involved have more and more leverage or incriminating evidence on each other as a form of insurance policy, increased trust through increased liability.

So all of the criminals have sworn an agreement not to tell on each other as a form of contract of criminal trust, each person has "dirt" on the other criminals involved.

Just because there is an absence of truth, it does not mean that the truth is absent. It just means that you have yet to come across its truth to you currently. Just because you have not seen or witnessed or become aware of it in your experience, it doesn't mean that it does not exist in reality. It just does not exist to you yet.

Often the Mainstream Media do not cover topics and events on their channels because to do so would make people aware of it being a real thing. Often these are omitted so that the audience are not even aware to ask about them and so it is not a real thing in their own subjective realities, so not existing to them.

12. The Law of Fear & Leverage

States that:

Might is right! An overwhelming force with an agenda will always beat any justice and reason.

The only fear you have is the one you create a contract with your mind to believe in.

Authority, force and power are used as tools of fear against individuals, groups and whole populations to keep them controlled.

Hierarchy is maintained by a pecking order, with the threat and fear of their own death to keep them controlled.

If a determined enough individual or group wants to get to you, there are multiple ways they can, some of those ways are to put you into fear.

The authorities bend the rules for their masters, so the laws and rules are only for the lower classes. Every law the governments decree is broken by its own members, but the public are punished.

Often the threat of death & violence makes people conform to other's dark agendas.

The 12 Dark Laws of Psychological Manipulation most frequently used:

1. The Law of Reciprocity: Creating a sense of obligation by providing a small favour or information first.
2. The Law of Subliminal Influence: Using subtle cues to guide thoughts without conscious awareness.
3. The Law of Emotional Leverage: Exploiting emotional vulnerabilities like guilt or shame.
4. The Law of Victimhood: Adopting the "victim" role to gain sympathy and deflect blame.
5. The Law of Fear: Using threats or anxiety to force compliance.
6. The Law of Scarcity: Creating a false sense of urgency or limited availability.
7. The Law of Mirroring: Subtly mimicking behaviour to build unearned trust.
8. The Law of Confusion: Overwhelming the target with complex information to weaken their critical thinking.
9. The Law of Silence: Using the "silent treatment" as a form of emotional punishment.
10. The Law of Isolation: Separating individuals from their support systems to make them more dependent.
11. The Law of Doubt: Using tactics like gaslighting to make people question their own reality.
12. The Law of Divide and Conquer: Creating internal conflict within a group to prevent a unified front.

Public Manipulation Strategies (Chomsky)

In the context of manipulating the general public (mass media and government), many refer to Noam Chomsky's 10 Strategies of Manipulation, which focus on social control:

- The Strategy of Distraction: Diverting public attention from important issues through minor "distractions".
- Gradual Strategy: Implementing unpopular measures slowly over years to avoid public revolt.
- Encourage Public Mediocrity: Promoting the idea that being uneducated or vulgar is "fashionable".
- Self-Blame: Making individuals believe they are the sole cause of their misfortunes (poverty, lack of education) rather than systemic issues.

Common Tactics to Watch For

- Gaslighting: Making a person or group doubt their memory or sanity.
- Love Bombing: Overwhelming a target with positive attention to gain control.
- Triangulation: Using a third party to create drama or validate the manipulator's narrative.
- Moving the Goalposts: Constantly changing requirements to ensure the target can never "win".
